"For four years the American consumer has been skimping—postponing buying more than bare necessities until 'better times.' Better times are here. Better times always mean higher prices. Now is the time to buy for purely selfish reasons. Prices are going up. Buying now is an investment.

"As the big drive gathered momentum other NRA activities progressed along routine channels. Aside from the buying campaign, greatest interest centered on the ultimate form of the retail trades code with its provision to stabilize prices by prohibiting sales at less than wholesale costs plus 10 per cent.

Johnson was expected to send this master charter to President Roosevelt tomorrow.

Trouble Blamed on Co-Op Mine, Unions Charging It Violates Agreement.

By The Associated Press

SULLIVAN, Ind., Oct. 9—State troops moved into Sullivan county today to preserve order following the bombing of several miners' homes and a skirmish at the Starburn mine between miners and union sympathizers.

The Starburn mine, being worked on a cooperative plan, was the storm center of the trouble. Union officials have condemned the "cooperative plan, declaring it to be in violation of the agreement between the operators and the United Mine Workers.

Prosecutor Asks Aid

Red Bridewell, prosecuting attorney, made a formal request for troops following the bombings and the clash at the Starburn mine during which stones were hurled and shots fired. No one was reported seriously injured.

Governor McNutt sent Brig. Gen. D. Wray DePres to Sullivan hearing a proclamation declaring the entire county under military control effective at 8:30 p. m. tonight.

The houses bombed were those of Charles Foxx and Roscoe White, both workers in cooperative mines. Both houses were damaged.

Employment Continues To Gain in Ohio

O.S.U. Report Shows 2.5 Per Cent Advance in September.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9—For the sixth consecutive month total employment gained in Ohio during September. This was revealed today in the monthly report of the Ohio State university's bureau of business research.

September employment was 2.5 per cent above August and 38.9 per cent above the March low point.

"During this period of rising employment," the report said, "increases from the previous month amounted to 5.1 per cent in April; 6.6 in May; 9.4 in June; 5.9 in July, 4.7 in August and 2.5 per cent in September.

"Employment in the non-manufacturing industries in September recorded a gain of 7-1 per cent from August, due largely to a greater than usual gain in the retail and wholesale trade group. Manufacturing employment registered a gain of 1.9 per cent while construction employment declined 2.2 per cent."

Eight of the 11 groups of manufacturing industries had employment increases last month, the report showed. The largest gain occurred in the machinery, paper and printing and food products groups. In all 11 groups, employment was substantially above the September mark of 1932. Twenty-two of 31 individual industries in the manufacturing group reported increases in employment last month.

"September employment increases were noted in four of the eight chief cities," the report stated. "The increases amounted to 11.9 per cent in Toledo, 5.1 in Cleveland, 4.7 in Columbus and 3.2 in Cincinnati while decreases amounted to 1.1 per cent in Stark county, 1.4 in Dayton, 2.1 in Youngstown, and 2.6 in Akron. All eight cities reported appreciable gains over September, 1932."

The bureau's statement is based on employment reports from 827 Ohio firms, of which 468 reported September increases, 251 decreases and 108 no change from August.

Ohio Told To Speed Public Works Action

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9— With only about half of Ohio's $15,484,592 allottment of public works funds for federal highway construction represented in approved projects, Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes has asked for more "action" in Ohio as well as in other states.

Projects in Ohio numbering 112, at an estimated total cost of $15,484,592, had been aproved up to last Thursday. The federal highway program has been allotted $400,000,000 of public works funds for all the states.

In a telegram to Governor George White of Ohio, one of several to state executives, Ickes declared "the public works administration wishes this money to be in action for recovery quickly."

He asked White and other governors to "advise me what you can do to expedite this important work so that men can be put to work as soon as possible.

"I direct your attention to the increasing lapse of time between the approval of recovery highway projects and the placing of these projects under actual construction," the telegram said.

Ickes pointed out that while nationally 2,160 projects have received approval, on only 1,359 projects have contracts been awarded, and on only 757 has actual construction started.

Doctor Predicts Healthier Humans in Next Century

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—Mr. 2033 won't have so many ailments to worry about if the prediction of Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland comes true.

Dr. Crile, head of a large medical clinic in the Ohio city, took a peek at the man of the next century yesterday and reported he would have some causes for rejoicing.

Not only would the man of 2033 enjoy longer life, he said, but he would be rid of such devastating diseases as tuberculosis and diabetes. By that time, he predicted, medical science will have conquered these two ailments.

By the time 2033 arrives, the layman will have been educated to what physicians know now concerning the importance of local infections in the teeth and elsewhere as causes of diseases, of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, and such ailments will be greatly reduced, Dr. Crile said. So will all other infectious diseases.

But on the other side of the picture the doctor foresaw a possible increase in the heart, kidney and other organic ailments that are caused by nervous and metal strain, described by him as the "kinetic drive of environment conditions," and cancer he predicted, will still claim many victims, even though the nature of the disease may be eventually disclosed.

Dr. Crile was one of several speakers who addressed laymen in their language at meetings arranged at a Century of Progress by the Americal college of surgeons which opens its annual clinical congress today.

Dr. Crile said he believed medical science would do more than guard the health and increase the span of life for the man of the future. A profound effect upon his education and preparation war foreseen by him.

WREN OUSTER BEFORE CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Captain Shrock First Witness at Hearing of Dismissed Patrolman.

CASE OPENS AT 1 P. M.

Officer Tells of Finding Policeman at Movie While on Duty.

Testimony tending to show that John Wren, dismissed from the police department more than a month ago, neglected his duty by attending a picture show was introduced before the civil service commission this afternoon.

Captain Ira Shrock, whose report to Chief W. E. Marks resulted in Wren's dismissal, was the first witness. The commission is conducting the hearing on an appeal filed by Wren in which he seeks to regain his old position.

The opening of the hearing was marked by clashes between City Solicitor Carter Patton, who represented Safety Director Emery Murphy, and Wren's attorneys, Grant E. Mouser Sr., Grant E. Mouser Jr. and Hector S. Young.

Object To Questions

They attempted to show through questioning of Shrock that he and other members of the department were in the habit of stopping to witness picture shows while on duty.

This trend of the testimony brought objections from Patton. He was upheld by the commission.

Shrock testified that he found Wren in the Marion theater Aug. 31 at 2:05 p. m. He said he had been in the theater at least 25 to 30 minutes.

The police captain told the commission that after seeing Wren enter the theater he reported to Chief Marks. After reporting the incident, Shrock said he went over Wren's beat and discovered that only three parked cars had been marked. Shrock also said that the theater is not on Wren's beat and that the deposed patrolman had been ordered to police the south side of Center street.

Continuing his testimony, Shrock said that he went into the theater where he discovered Wren sitting in a back row. After waiting about eight minutes, Wren started to leave, he said.

Badge Removed

Confronting Wren in the theater, Shrock said he took the patrolman to Chief Marks where he was suspended and his badge taken away from him The badge, Shrock testified, was in Wren's pocket and not on his uniform.

Shrock's official report to Chief Marks, on which Wren was dismissed by the safety director, was put into the records.

The report brought further argument between attorneys representing the two sides. Wren's counsel contended that he did not receive a copy of the report. The commission, however, told them to continue the case.

The municipal courtroom, where the hearing was in progress, was jammed by spectators.

C. of C. Seeks Funds To Carry On Civic Program

A. A. Van Atta Named Chairman of Committee To Stage Campaign Opening Oct. 24.

An intensive drive for funds to adequately finance a program designed to set Marion in step with industrial and business development throughout the country will be conducted this month by the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

Only by concerted action and intensive work through a central business and industrial organization can Marion get its full measure of benefits in the "new deal" that is making its way through industry and business throughout the country, Chamber officials asserted, in announcing their plans.

Van Atta Heads Drive

Arthur A. VanAtta will head the drive, to be staged Oct. 24, 25, 26 and 27. He has named Elmer Schoenlaub, A. W. Kette, Fred Hoch and C. F. Bronson as division chairmen to take charge of the different phases of the drive, and has outlined a plan by which each chairman with 10 workers, will do the work.

In a meeting of an executive committee this morning, Chairman Van Atta asserted that the drive will be made for a threefold purpose.

First, funds must be raised if the Chamber is to take its rightful place as the headquarters or clearing house looking out for the welfare of industry, business and the city in general.

Second, Marion business and industrial heads must be made to realize the importance and the necessity of having a community headquarters of this nature to keep Marion in step with the recovery movement.

Third, there must be a new show of spirit on the part of merchants and manufacturers, large and small, if an organization of this kind is to accomplish its purposes.

Cooperation Needed

Regarding the new show of spirit needed in the Chamber, Mr. Van Atta, chairman of the membership and finance committee and chairman of the drive, said, "I'm sick and tired of hearing this man and that man say, 'Why don't you do this, that or the other thing?' When these fellows start to say, 'Why don't we do this and so for the interest of the city?' well get somewhere."

W. D. Brown, manager of the Chamber, repeated Mr. VanAtta's statement that the Chamber cannot operate without adequate finances.

"Up to this time," he said, "we have not had sufficient funds to carry on the program that Marion must have if it is to keep pace with other cities which have better organized Chambers of Commerce."

"The program of the Chamber," he continued, "has been revamped. We intend to spend less time trying to settle differences between individuals or groups of competitors—we're going to start shooting for the bigger things that are of citywide importance."

The drive will get under way Oct. 24 at a meeting of workers in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 9 a. m. A report luncheon will be held on Oct. 25 at Hotel Marion and a victory dinner on Oct. 27 at the close of the drive.

As chairman, Mr. VanAtta will be assisted by George Frank as vice chairman, and the following executive committee members: C. F. Elmer J. Schoenlaub, Bronson, Fred Hoch, A. W. Kette, M. E. Burke, R. T. Lewis, R. E. White, E. L. Bush, M. C. O'Brien, K. J. Garceau, Ray R. King, Jim Dugan, J. C. Woods, Karl W. Schell. Other workers include a prospect committee composed of M. E. Burke, chairman, Mr. Schoenlaub, J. C. Woods, R. E. White, M. C. O'Brien and E. L. Bush, and a publicity committee composed of Bob Byrd, H. S. Elliott, George Kleinmaier and Karl W. Schell.

Judge Puts End to Marion Career of "Glass-Eater"

The local career of a "glass-eater" ended abruptly this morning when Lester LaMunyon, 45, of Goshen, Ind., was ordered to leave Marion within 30 minutes when he was arraigned in municipal court on an intoxication charge.

Blaming his ill luck on a change in diet from glass to more invigorating liquids, LaMunyon lost no time in leaving the vicinity of the court and police headquarters.

Friday, LaMunyon created a furor in three South Main street stores when he crushed and ate five electric light bulbs, according to eye-witness stories told by employes of the three stores.

He was arrested shortly after midnight this morning at West Center and Orchard streets, hardly half a block from police headquarters. Judge William R. Martin suspended a fine of $10 and costs.

Good Will

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 9 — When you really figure it out, there is no individual that is as funny as a nation (any nation not just these).

An Argentine president visited Brazil (the first time in generations). He went there in an Argentine battleship, was met by Brazilian cruisers and 75 fighting planes. (Now all this mind you, is on a good will trip).

Imagine individuals doing that. I go to visit you, take along a Winchester and box full of cartridges, you meet me at your gate with your best polished machine gun and two Colt .45's, but at the banquet that night there is wonderful speeches of good will. The next morning both of 'em start building more guns.

Viva diplomacy. Nobody is fooled. Nobody is hurt. Viva hooey.

KELLYS FIGHT COURT GUARD

Pistol Blows from Officer's Gun Subdue Outlaw and Wife.

ON TRIAL FOR KIDNAPING

Government Seeks To Add Pair To Seven Already Convicted.

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 9 — As George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, started to enter the federal building elevator today just before the start of their trial in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, they engaged in a fight with a guard.

As Kathryn paused to kiss her father, J. E. Brooks, the officer tried to prevent the greeting, giving her a slight shove. She stumbled and nearly fell.

Angered, she turned and slapped the officer in the face. He returned the blow, and Kelly, raising his handcuffed hands attempted to attack the officer.

Another officer drew his pistol and struck the outlaw over the head several times.

The guard slapped by Mrs. Kelly was J. C. White, department of justice agent.

As soon as the excitement died down, the Kellys were taken into the courtroom under heavy guard.

Government Confident

Determined to drive a hard and fast case against the notorious couple, District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde said as court opened.

"I think about 12 witnesses are all that will be needed."

The previous Urschel trial from which Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon drew life sentences, consumed two weeks.

As Kelly stumbled into the courtroom, bound with arm and leg chains, a knot on the left side of his head was visible. His dyed yellow hair was slightly stained with blood.

"Yes, I slapped that officer," Mrs. Kelly snapped. "And I'd slap him again."

A big stick carved to smash the kidnaping racket, the new federal conspiracy law, was swung for the second time in a month by the government as the Kellys went on trial. Seven others have been convicted in the $200,000 ransom abduction case.

Of the seven, Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates were transported by airplane Sunday to the federal prison annex at Leavenworth, Kas., to begin serving life sentences pronounced Saturday by Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Voters Are Urged To Be Sure of Registration

Are you properly registered?

Ask yourself this question, C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, advised Marion residents today as he and election board officials continued to make preparations for the Nov. 7 election.

Oct. 17 will be the last day for persons not properly registered to make themselves eligible to vote in the election, the deputy clerk warned.

Persons who must register or transfer include the following: those who failed to vote at the last two general elections; those who have reached voting age since the last election and have not yet registered; those whose names have been changed by marriage or divorce; those who moved from one precinct to another since the last election without transferring their registration at election board headquarters.

Election board officials estimate there are several hundred persons in Marion who will be denied the right of ballot in November if they fail to register. This number is being cut down daily by activities of the organizations of the two political parties, who are busily rounding up prospective voters to support their respective tickets.

"Don't wait until election day and get into an argument with a precinct election board over whether you are registered," Deputy Clerk Ritzler urged Marion residents today. "Make it a point to satisfy yourself before Oct. 17 that you are eligible to vote—and please don't wait until the last day, because then you'll have to stand in line."

Voters may register at the election board headquarters in the Marion Building, Savings & Loan Co. building.

Automobile accidents in the vicinity of Marion over the week-end resulted in three dead and 11 injured. The deaths were among nine in Ohio.

The three dead are Walter Ruffing 26, of Norwalk and Emmett Mayle, 42, of Zanesville, who died of injuries suffered in an automobile collision Saturday afternoon at the intersection of routes 95 and 98 east of Marion, and Eva June Truax, 8, of Mt. Gilead, who died of a broken neck as a result of an accident on the Cleveland-Sandusky highway yesterday afternoon.

The injured are Judge Robert G. Gosline and daughter Martha of Toledo, Judge Gosline's sister-in-law, Mrs. Rachel Casler of Delta, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bending and Raymond Truax of Mt. Gilead, Mrs. Emmett Mayle and Ancel Honesty of Zanesville, Edwin Zurrich and Eugene Frederick of Norwalk and Miss Carrie Hamilton of Richwood.

Two Accident Victims Die in Hospital

Two gala Saturday outings came to tragic endings in the Marion City hospital with the deaths of Walter Ruffing, 26, of Norwalk at 5 a. m. today and Emmett Mayle, 42, of Zanesville, last night at 10:30.

The two men were in cars which crashed at state routes 98 and 95 east of Marion Saturday about 6 p. m. Mr. Ruffing was one of a party returning from the Ohio State university-University of Virginia football game in Columbus and Mr. Mayle was in a car returning from a vacation at the World's fair in Chicago.

Mr. Ruffing a cousin of John F. Ruffing of 221 North Prospect street was driving a car of students of St. Paul's Catholic school in Norwalk from Columbus to Norwalk on state road 98.

A party of three, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Mayle and Ancel Honesty all of Zanesville, was going home on state route 98 from a trip to the World's fair in Chicago. Mr. Honesty was driving the car, a roadster.

Pole Snapped Off

At the intersection of the two highways the two cars crashed. The impact was of such force that the Honesty car bounded away and snapped off a telephone pole. Telephone wires were torn down and communication with Marion for aid was delayed.

Passersby took six persons from both cars to the hospital. Mr. Ruffing did not regain consciousness before he died, but Mr. Mayle rallied long enough to recognize relatives for a few minutes yesterday afternoon, their physician said. Both men suffered fractured skulls. Mr. Mayle's chest was crushed and Mr. Ruffing suffered a broken collarbone.

Authorities did not place blame for the accident on either of the drivers, as neither observed the highway signs at the intersection they said. Motorists on route 98 are cautioned to slow down for the

"WE RENT ALL THREE .. BUT MOST PEOPLE WANT Plymouth"

AN INTERVIEW WITH ALBERT M. ZUCH, MGR., U-DRIVE-IT CO., AKRON, OHIO

"When twice as many patrons ask for PLYMOUTH as for any other car . . . there must be a reason!"

ALBERT ZUCH'S branch of the Ohio U-Drive-It Company today is operating nine Plymouths to four each of the other two low-priced leaders.

"I can see why people are sold on hydraulic brakes," Mr. Zuch says. "We have fewer accidents with cars that have them.

"Then, too, no other car we have can beat Plymouth on low maintenance. We hardly ever have to touch the engines.

"And that's something, when you remember our cars have different drivers nearly every day!"

Salesmen want a restful ride, and Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings eliminate vibration. Women like the style, room and easy-handling quality.

Everyone wants a car that's solid and dependable. Plymouth's Rigid-X double-drop frame is many times stronger than the ordinary type, and its body is steel reinforced with steel . . . Greater safety and longer car life.

Yes, there are reasons why twice as many people ask Mr. Zuch for Plymouth. You can see them yourself, in fifteen minutes behind the wheel.

Why not accept your dealer's invitation to see why Plymouth is the country's fastest growing car. Sold by Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler dealers.

STANDARD MODELS priced from $445 to $510; DeLuxe Models, $495 to $595. All prices are F. O. B. Factory, and subject to change without notice. Convenient time payments.

FRED CALVERT

Two Lima men have accepted invitations to preside at the central Ohio fall music festival of male voices Wednesday night at the [illegible] Thomas A. Edison Junior High school.

Fred Calvert will preside as adjudicator and Mark Evans of the Lima public school music department, father of T. R. Evans, supervisor of music in the Marion schools, will act as guest conductor.

Both men took part in the central Ohio eisteddfod held here in February of 1932, Mr. Calvert on the music committee and Mr. Evans as director of a prize winning chorus.

The place of the festival, originally planned for the Chautauqua pavilion, was changed to the Edison Junior High school building because of weather conditions.

Ten choruses, including the Canto club of Marion, sponsors, will participate for the $40 prize money. At the close of the contest Mark Evans will lead the combined choruses in the singing of three selections.

This Is Not the Ad We Intended To Use!

But the throngs of buyers who have occupied every foot of floor space in our store, just didn't give us time to write it.

HUNDREDS CAME AGAIN TODAY!

AND HERE IS WHAT THEY FOUND—

(1) That there are thousands of bargains in this great $75,000 stock remaining.

(2) That all fire damaged goods are practically gone.

(3) That the cream of the store, fine living room, bedroom and dining room suites are marked at little as one-half regular prices.

(4) That there excellent buys in boudoir chairs, bedroom benches and rockers.

(5) That lamps, both table and bridge, are priced one-half off and less.

(6) That fibre suites for bedroom and living room are reduced as much as 75 per cent.

(7) That there are once-in-a-lifetime opportunities on coal heaters and gas radiants.

(8) That their drapery department has been entirely rearranged. Many new things on the tables. Many new remnants from goods sold Saturday. (This was the busiest department in the store Saturday and today and will be again Tuesday.)

(9) That Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs, Seconds (slight misprints), 9x12 were selling at $3.95 and smaller sizes at lower prices.

(10) That this Fire Sale is making merchandising history in Marion that will be remembered for years.

Help us clear out this tremendous stock of dependable furniture — and make savings you'll never forget.

We can't thank our friends enough for their kindness and patience of Saturday and today. It would have been impossible to have enough salespeople to take care of everybody. There were probably 15,000 people through the store, yet every one was good natured. We were sorry there were not enough of some items to go around. We believe you will understand why. In the store we only carry samples and use our warehouse for duplicates. This explains why there were many disappointments. Come back again tomorrow. We're sure you'll see things you overlooked before.

Marion Mimes To Stage 1933 Pulitzer Prize Play

"Both Your Houses" Scheduled for Production Late in October.

...Pulitzer prize play, "...", a bitter farce ...dealing written by ...n, will be presented ... Mimes some time ...

... first time Marion ... not have to trek ... to see presentation ...ted as "the American ... shall best represent ... national value and ... stage in raising the ... morals, good taste ... manners."

...n of this play is the ... forward move the ... made since inception of the little theater movement in Marion, its members believe.

Heads Mantle's List

Burns Mantle, who each year selects and publishes the 10 plays of the season which he considers "best," heads his volume of "The Best Plays of 1932-33" with "Both Your Houses," "because of the honor conferred upon it."

Since the awarding of the Pulitzer prize to the play which best meets the requirements stated above began, "Craig's Wife," "Anna Christie," "Hellbent for Heaven" and "Strange Interlude" have been among the dramas which have been honored.

McKean's Review

Kenneth McKean in a review of the play in the April issue of "The Stage," a national publication which aims impartially to record and interpret the most significant and interesting events in the field of the theater and allied arts here and abroad, wrote:

"As fifteen years ago the doughboys cursed the war but fought it, so in peace times Americans sneer at congress but vote for it. Just now, it is true, congress is much too important an institution in the lives and fortunes of all of us to be sneered at. In its loyal cooperation with a wise executive we feel our well-being and prosperity are bound up, and we are in no temper to scorn a thing so necessary to our salvation. But no longer ago than yesterday most of us took it for granted that congress was mostly a curious aggregation of light-fingered speechmakers, as disagreeable as bad weather, and as unavoidable. Loyalty to American institutions never stopped any citizen from saying what he thought about Congress.

"It is in this mood that Maxwell Anderson presents his picture of the lower house of legislators for the United States of America, in 'Both Your Houses'. To him the spectacle of the pork barrel is so painful that he must laugh that he be not obliged to weep. Weeping will do little good. Laughter, hilarious, bitter laughter, may."

Theme Throughout Play

And it is in this "hilarious, bitter laughter" vein that the entire farce of three acts and six scenes is written.

Marion libraries have had long waiting lists for the play since its selection as a Pulitzer prize winner was announced.

So far, The Mimes is the first little theater group within a wide radius to undertake the presentation of this play.

Rehearsals have started at The Playhouse, where the play will be presented. Definite dates of presentation have not been announced, but the director, Mrs. Rodney B. Hume, expects to have the play in readiness for the amusement of Marionites and those in the vicinity who desire to see a Pulitzer prize vehicle, by the last week of this month.

THE 1ST THING I'M GOING TO BUY—IS A MAYTAG

"With prices going up I want to buy a lot of things. But not another thing till I get a Maytag. Because with a Maytag, I can save money to buy other things."

• That's sensible buying. Because it is buying quality you can use—quality that pays a weekly return on your money. • The Maytag washes clothes faster, washes them more thoroughly, more gently and at lower cost per washing because it is a better designed, better built washer. • Select your Maytag at today's low prices.

CLASH AT DENISON

Men and Women at College Divided Over Examination System.

Special to The Star

GRANVILLE, O., Oct. 9—Divided into male and female factions, the student body of Denison university here is at war over a question of honor.

Passed by the joint student council of the university, a proposed honor system of examinations to replace the one suspended on the campus eight years ago was recently voted down by the men students and passed by the women students.

Charges that the men were inconsistent, in view of the fact that agitation for the honor system came from within their body last spring, were being hurled at the men today by leaders of the co-ed forces. An editorial in the student newspaper, the Denisonian, said in part: "That Denison men do not feel capable of supporting a form of honor system within their own body is regrettable. But until there is a definite change of attitude on the part of the men, further efforts in regard to the institution of an honor system on the Denison campus seem out of the question."

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, Oct. 10

THE LUNAR transits for this day may be responsible for a very active and lively state of affairs, with much doing in business, especially in all connected with writings, publishing, promotions and kindred interests. But withal there is great need for wise manipulation of funds, as taking "long chances" (as the tendencies incite), may prove decidedly hazardous to funds as well as position.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and active year, with much stirring in business and in all pertaining to writings, publishing, advertising and promotion. But there is a great menace of reckless use of funds, in taking perilous chances, thus jeopardizing possible progress and success in many directions.

A child born on this day should be versatile, lively, charming and very popular, but disposed to be extravagant and reckless with its substance.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO WIN THE WORLD SERIES

21 out of 23 GIANTS WORLD CHAMPIONS Smoke CAMELS

(Right) "GREAT TEAM WORK and healthy nerves carried us to the top," says Bill Terry, brilliant Giants' manager. "A check-up of the team shows that 21 out of 23 of the World Champion Giants smoke Camels."

(Left) "I LONG AGO learned that Camels are the cigarette for me," says "Blondy" Ryan. "I like Camels better, and they don't get on my nerves."

(Above) "JUMPY NERVES AND home runs don't go together," according to Mel Ott. "So I stick to my Camels when I get a minute to enjoy a smoke."

(Left) HAROLD SCHUMACHER SAYS: "I prefer Camels. I am a steady smoker of Camels and they never give me jumpy nerves or a 'cigaretty' aftertaste."

(Above) "I CAN'T RISK getting ruffled nerves so I smoke Camels," says Carl Hubbell. "I like their mildness and I know they won't interfere with healthy nerves."

WELL, THE RETURNS ARE IN. Congratulations to the new World Champions—the Giants! Rated by the experts as a hopeless contender this amazing team, playing under inspired leadership, fought successfully through one of the hardest National League races in years... and, again the under dog, went on to win the World Series.

It takes healthy nerves to play "better baseball than you know how."

It takes healthy nerves to go on winning day after day through crucial series after series... delivering time after time in the pinches.

It means something when you discover that 21 out of the 23 Giants smoke Camel cigarettes.

These men, to whom healthy nerves are all-important, have found that Camel's costlier tobaccos not only taste better, but also they never interfere with training... never jangle the nerves.

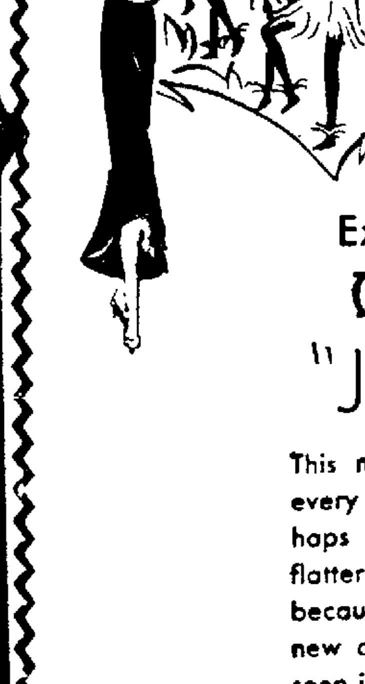

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

FIVE pounds is not a very large sum. Carefully husbanded, of course it will go quite a long way. If you tramp the roads sleep ... and live on bread and cheese ... lodging costs you nothing and ... food not very much. On the other hand a toothbrush, a cake of soap and a razor are necessaries and so is a change of linen. Money goes as soon as you begin to buy clothes. How long would his suit last if he slept out in it? It was none too grand now.

He pushed all these things away. He had got to get out of Ledlington and he was lucky to have five pounds to take the road with.

As he passed a newspaper shop at the corner of the Station road a headline stared at him from a yard away.

ARREST NEAR IN VAN BERG CASE

A mile out of Ledlington he left the high road for a footpath across fields. It took him into a lane which climbed to an open heath.

He sat down to rest on the stump of a tree and looked about him. The day was fine, but not clear. The blue of the sky was misted over and the sun came palely through. There was a purple bloom of heather as far as the eye could see. He stared across it at the veiled horizon. A hill like a cloud stood up against its northern edge—a hill with a double top.

He sat looking at it for a long time, and for as long as he looked at it there were pictures in his mind—broken pictures that came and went, forming, dissolving, and reforming. When he tried to think about them they were gone. He was left with a sense of thing—most deeply familiar.

He walked on towards the hill.

He had bought food in Ledlington. At mid-day he sat on a sunny slope and ate. Afterwards he fell asleep and dreamed about the emeralds. It was the same dream every time he slept, but it was getting clearer. In the dream he always knew where the emeralds were, but as soon as he woke up the knowledge faded. Sometimes he could hold it for a moment by shutting his eyes and keeping his mind empty, but as soon as he tried to keep it, it was gone.

The dream always began the same way. He could remember the beginning—Elmer's hand with the scar, and the emeralds dangling from it under the light—eight square green stones with pearls between them.

Then the dream broke up into a rush of colored fragments. There was a voice in a fog. There was the sound of a shot a long way off. There was the voice and there was a picture in his mind of tall stone ...ars with pineapple tops, and a ...e that wound between them ...of sight. The voice said "Like ...'s green beads" and "Nobody ...ws where they are." But in the dream he knew. A round room with five little windows like slits—a place where you might look for a year and never find them.

He woke up the sun hot on his face. The dream was gone but the hill still broke the horizon. In some strange way he associated the hill and the dream. He made a pillow of bracken for his head and lay on the slope watching the hill. Presently he would get to it—presently.

He slept again.

"IT'S eleven o'clock," said Caroline to Patsy Ann. "I'm going to bed."

She went up the stairs, which ended on a tiny landing with a door on either side. Her room was on the left and you went down two steps to it. Both the steps and the floor of the room were old polished boards very wavy and uneven. The window which looked to the front of the house, was set in a deep embrasure.

She shut the door and turned on the light in the lamp beside her bed. Hazelbury West had had electric light for the last eight years and considered itself very up to date in consequence.

Caroline turned down her bed, folding the quilt carefully and laying it on the chest in which she kept her hats. She had said she wanted to come to bed, but she wasn't really sleepy.

She opened the bottom drawer of the chest of drawers which faced the window and took out a bundle of letters tied with a twist of pale blue knitting silk. Then she went over to the bed. Sitting down on the edge of it, she untied the bundle and turned the letters over.

There were not a great many of them. Two the first year after Jim went out, one for her birthday, and one for Christmas, and two again the second year, and the third. In the fourth year he only wrote for Christmas. The pain of that missed birthday came across the three years' interval and hurt her still.

In the fifth year there was no letter at all. On her birthday and on Christmas day Caroline read the old letters and tried to make believe that they had just come. It was not a very successful make believe.

In the sixth year there were still no letters.

And then in the seventh year—this year—they began again. He had written at Christmas from New York.

Caroline got out the letter and read it again. It was a very nice letter. She hugged herself a little over it. It began, as all his letters had begun, "Darling Caroline", and it was quite long. He had been building a bridge in Mexico, and he had been in Chile, and Peru, and up in wild places in the Andes. He was hers, Jim. He always signed just like that: "Yours, Jim."

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

The unaccountable delay in the return of Dicky and Edith Fairfax from the beach gives Avis Arlen a chance to send a few verbal darts Madge's way.

MORE than once I have remarked the absolute imperturbability of Avis Arlen when, as often happens, she is royally snubbed. She appears to have a mental epidermis equal to the physical one possessed by a rhinoceros, but I have often suspected that it is only her tenacity, her determination to win her objective at any cost which enables her to present an unmoved front to snubs which would prompt a sensitive girl to instant departure from the scene of her humiliation.

On the other hand, a girl of a finer nature would not lay herself open to the rebuffs which Avis actually invites. But that inwardly Avis writhes at these rebuffs and mentally "chalks them up," to be repaid with interest, at the first opportunity, to the persons responsible for them, I am as sure as I am that her calmness in defeat is worthy of a great strategist.

Hugh Grantland's courteous but distinctly formal leave-taking of her—after her pretty possessive air, her use of his given name, her tacit appeal for defense against Harry Underwood's gibe — must have drawn blood. But she ignored his leave-taking superbly, as if she had not heard it, turning instantly to Harry Underwood as if she had not yet finished her reply to his thrust concerning her reference to the crashing breakers.

"I hope you don't think I'm unutterably stupid," she said appealingly. "I'll promise not to exaggerate that way again."

"Bless you, child, don't take me seriously," the big man said bluffly, and I guessed that even though he realized the theatricalism of her apology, his innate chivalry was causing him compunction for the jest he had made at her expense.

"Nobody ever takes me seriously," he went on plaintively. "Even my frau over there, or rather, especially my frau over there"—he waved a dolorous hand at Lillian—"never gives anything I say the honor of a second's serious consideration."

Avis gave a silvery little laugh.

"Perhaps she knows you better than anybody else," she said coquettishly.

With the burlesqued melodrama in which he is so adept, he staggered back with his arms hugging his waist.

"A blow below the belt!" he exclaimed. "I call for the referee."

But Avis was no longer paying any attention to him. She hooked her arm into that of her mother and lounged lazily toward me.

A Race From the Beach

"Isn't Mr. Graham back yet?" she asked silkily. "He and Miss Fairfax left the beach at the same time we did. We had a bit of a race and Hugh's car won. He's the most marvelous driver, don't you think? But I should think they'd be back by this time. I do hope nothing has happened to them."

I understood perfectly what she was trying to do. With a long score against me for thwarting her plot to win Noel away from Mary as well as for the ... aggravation she had had ... the matter of the bridesmaids ... she ... miss no opportunity for ... stiletto jabs.

From her ... she said ... ered that she ... serious threat ... Hugh by his ... apparently ... raderie between ... closer intimacy ... her insinuation ... Edith were ... the moonlight ... I knew she ... tween the lines ... solicitude for ...

"Oh, I am sure ... has happened to them," ... but it is very ... worried about ... However, I happen to know ... the ways. ... a race he ... down as far as ... along home."

"Sulking," Avis ... with another little ... "How I shall tease him about that when he gets home."

I sent a mental ... to Dicky for my tantalization ... anything seemed better than ... countenance her hint of Dicky's ... in the moonlight with Edith Fairfax.

Harry Underwood, however, was not concerned with anything save the practical problem presented by her words.

"Look here, Hugh," he said,

...ignoring Avis, "did you race the Dickybird? And where did you pass him?"

Old-Age Pensions.

The problem of providing pensions for people who have reached advanced age without means of maintenance is worthy of deeper consideration than Ohio will be able to give it before voters express their decision at the polls on election day. As a matter of fact, it is virtually impossible to give a yes-or-no decision under the circumstances.

Old-age pensions are supported widely as a humanitarian measure of providing security for those who have been deprived of that security by misfortune or failure. Even those who oppose them agree that the ideal is a worthy one. They point out at the same time the great difficulty of making the ideal a workable practice at this time.

Several developments in the manner of living point to the need for more adequate insurance against indigency in old age. The change from agriculture to urban industry and development of machinery has made it more difficult for old people to make a living. A higher standard of living, which makes for late marriages and fewer children, has deprived parents of the help of adult offspring during their declining years. Another important development is the lengthening span of life causing more old age. In 1855 the average life span in the United States was about 40 years. By 1924 it had increased to 58 years.

This, in outline, is the problem. It exists in every industrial nation and, significantly, none of those nations has found a solution for it. The American people, in proceeding with other governments' experiences as a guide, is taking an uncertain course. It is no wonder that there is little in its record so far to prove that old-age pensions can be made really helpful.

Ohio's choice, therefore, must be made between a refusal to support old-age pensions at the polls in November and favor for such a system in the face of circumstances which assuredly will prevent it from becoming effective for many years. On the whole, if the ideal is worth supporting at any time—and there seems to be general agreement on that point—it probably is worth supporting now, even though circumstances may prevent it being made effective immediately.

The Rhythm of Progress.

From the beginning of things men have realized the danger of trying to get too much at once. Yet their realization rarely has been able to prevail over their unleashed desires. It is as true of numbers of men as it is of individuals that they will hang themselves if given enough rope.

The point is being emphasized in the counsels of many earnest commentators on the recovery program. Unintentionally, people were encouraged to hope for too much—more, at any rate, than could be allowed by sober judgment. There is real danger that in the frenzied effort to achieve recovery, the goal may be lost in the confusion of conflict with obstacles that cannot be removed except by steady, cooperative action.

President Roosevelt voiced warning against this danger in his address to the National Conference of Catholic Charities last week. Speaking of dependency on charity, he said that the depression's mark on employment cannot be obliterated overnight. The same warning applies to all aspects of the recovery program.

The foundations of national economy are innumerable private enterprises conducted for profit. No one has been able to find anything in the plans of the Roosevelt administration proving that this system is to be discarded. Rather, the plan is an attempt to employ the system to bring about wider employment and a higher standard of living than has prevailed in the years of the depression.

It is patently impossible to demand more of the system than its limited flexibility allows without wrecking it and defeating the objective of the recovery program. This much is evident. Yet, there exists many signs that eagerness to realize promised benefits is prompting demands and actions which threaten directly the foundations of the national economic system. It does not matter greatly in the long view that the system has not worked satisfactorily and that its survival is a matter of its capacity to produce ... The pertinent fact is that there is ... to replace it if it is destroyed.

Satisfactory Preliminaries.

It was a good show the crowd ... and a good show the crowd is going ... if early developments in New York ... three-cornered fight for mayor mean anything. Candidates O'Brien, McKee and La Guardia are going to work with a will. Behind them, their various bosses and sponsors are whooping it up like good fellows. Even sedate Samuel Seabury is down on the mat with his hair mussed.

A significant protective action is planned by LaGuardia's fusion following. Because it is no secret that Tammany hall carries its fight straight through the campaign, election day and tabulation of ballots, fusionists are lining up a combat organization to guard the polls. Membership will be drawn from professional boxers, former college athletes and muscular young men whose names appear in the social register.

The function of these upright citizens will be to use their fists when and where needed, with special emphasis on the probability that Tammany Hall's ward heelers will be the targets. Candidate McKee's following hasn't announced any similar plan as yet, but if two groups of fisticuffers were to be lined up against Tammany's plug-uglies on election day the venerable Democratic institution verily would have something of which to complain. Its peculiar type of good government would be threatened gravely.

Unfortunately, Candidate O'Brien is under orders from his handlers to keep his ample neck out of the line of fire. For instance, his presence at the opening game of the world series the other day was expected by nearly everyone. It was the judgment of the men in his corner, however, that he had picked enough raspberries; they ordered him to get the game over his radio at home. This seems to indicate that Tammany's policy will be to save their man for the finish, while his two rivals exhaust each other in the center of the ring. Like the cat and the dog that ate each other up, Candidates McKee and LaGuardia, by destroying each other, may make New York City perfectly safe for Mr. O'Brien's curious type of Democracy.

22 Per Cent — Plus.

The economic commission of the League of Nations, a group whose conclusions are entitled to some respect, has figured out that the depression is lifting gradually and that the economic situation is showing improvement. This fact is contained in the commission's official report to the League of Nations assembly.

In a sense, it is like a report showing the storm is over after people in the storm area have gone out to work in their gardens. None but the direst of pessimists insists that signs interpreted favorably actually are delusions. Most people are willing to believe, as the commission does, that the situation is showing improvement.

An interesting detail of the report is the opinion that the United States is leading the world in recovery. There will be few exceptions to that, either. Despite a sort of national modesty, Americans are willing to admit that they have been doing pretty well; that is, they would be willing to admit it in the presence of a foreign critic.

A 22 per cent recovery in France is the highest described in the commission's report. The recovery in this country is greater, but no indication is given how much greater the percentage is. For purposes of being comforted by this abstract report verifying their own conclusions, therefore, Americans will have to accept without question that improvement is 22 per cent—plus.

There may be danger of forgetting in the midst of so much effort that progress actually is being made. No report by an economic commission is necessary to prove it is so.

Common sense is sufficient. When Americans look around them they can see the signs of upturn. How much? If it really matters how much, 22 per cent plus—is a good enough answer.

Behind The News In Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Analysis of the American Federation of Labor convention here shows that organized labor is very nearly in a position comparable to that it maintained during Woodrow Wilson's administration.

Enjoying major gains and concessions such as have not been their lot in years, the union men are massed almost solidly behind President Roosevelt.

They are not quite as militant as they were back in 1916 when they claimed credit for reelecting the war president but they might easily be stirred up to that pitch. They certainly believe they elected this one.

30 Hours

In demanding revision of the NRA codes to bring about a 30-hour week and higher pay schedules organized labor is not parting company with the administration.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins earnestly supported the Black bill to do just that at last spring's special session. The President let it be known he would accept it if passed.

Brain Trust economists repeatedly have reported that only a 30-hour week will take up the slack and afford reemployment to all those who have lost out because of mechanical improvements and the depression.

Politics

In some quarters it is being suggested that Democratic headquarters politicians are edging in and working toward control of various labor unions.

Close study of the convention leaders delegates and proceedings indicates little basis for this charge.

Rather, because NRA and the New Deal have given labor a truly big break, those labor leaders normally belonging to the Democratic party merely are emerging as the big shots of the movement.

Hurt

The only place where politics definitely has raised its head is in the racket unions. And here the racketeer who organizes an industry for its "protection" almost inevitably ties up with the local political machine for his own protection. The machine's complexion doesn't interest him.

Responsible union leaders are doing everything in their power to stamp out the racket organizations. They realize how much labor's cause is hurt by their continued operation.

Especially as they tie up generally with the radical elements.

Czar

Those best informed in Washington are saying the distillers had better get themselves a czar such as rules baseball and the movies or all sorts of merry hades will be popping immediately after Dec. 5.

That is the day prohibition is to be lowered into the grace according to all advance estimates.

Responsible repealists are doing a little private shaking in their boots over what may follow in view of the way our whisky makers have been acting up of late.

They can foresee return of the saloon in some states and numerous abuses of the restored license in others unless some authoritative spokesman steps in very shortly and starts talking out for the industry.

For example: Distillers' representatives are now claiming that all of the prohibition laws are predicated on the eighteenth amendment and when the amendment dies the laws become unconstitutional. This sounds like good reasoning to a layman.

But if this is true and if nothing is done to rectify the situation before Dec. 5, almost anything would go for a time at least.

The distillers are being urged to crown a czar immediately and send him out into the states to get control legislation adopted wherever possible before the fateful day.

On top of this would come an operating agreement for the whole industry designed to prevent reckless dispensation of liquor pending legislative action.

The whisky boys are being reminded it was their determination to put a saloon on every corner that brought about prohibition in the first place.

Dry

The District of Columbia offers one interesting example of what is going to happen after Dec. 5, provided it is true the Volstead and similar acts die with Amendment 18.

The nation's capital, being voteless, is regulated by congress. Back in 1917 congress voted the District dry under a sort of local option by remote control.

Thus, until such time as congress reassembles and does something about it, Washington will be dry by virtue of the act of 1917.

Lives.

The state, war and navy departments are becoming quite convinced that Chancellor Hitler is putting steel blades on his German tin soldiers.

Latest word from Berlin has to do with his establishment of a special "department of war education" under Edwald Banse. Banse explains departmental aims as follows:

"Between our present misery and our future happiness there will be a war, and a formidable one. In order to prepare for it our people must learn from infancy that their lives belong only to the state."

"In school every curriculum subject—geography, history, physics, chemistry, biology—must lead to the science of war," continues the Herr Dr.

"From the age of 12 years pupils must commence military exercises, first through strategic maneuvers and then by learning accuracy with small caliber guns. Youth enjoys playing soldier; let us exploit it for the Fatherland."

Notes

Anyone who attended the A. F. of L. convention looking for some of those horny-handed sons of toil was in for a disappointment ..The delegates looked more like an overflow meeting of U. S. Steel stockholders...The well-dressed man could have got a few pointers .. Mention of President Roosevelt's name or the New Deal got almost any speaker an ovation.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—The stock exchange may yet live to be sorry it won that tax battle from New York City by threatening to move to New Jersey.

The city fathers and step-fathers were irked no end at being obliged to back down. They can't do anything about the taxes but they thought it might be fun to have their representatives in congress snipe back by pressing for regulation.

On second thought they had a better idea. Investigator Pecora is renewing his inquisition. It has been suggested that he move the stock exchange forward on the schedule and give it the works. Pecora is not exactly one of the big shots of Tammany but he belongs and would presumably be glad to do the boys a favor. After all it's a small thing to ask.

Goats

This plan would fit in rather neatly with the general direction that New York hears the investigation is about to take.

Fireworks of the fizzy kind will be allowed in plenty. They will make a lot of noise but they won't mean much. Methods of financing by affiliates will be aired but nothing will be introduced which might possibly cause loss of confidence in the banks themselves even if it is ancient history.

But speculators and floaters of defaulted foreign bonds are fair game and will be treated accordingly. They have no friends in official Washington and nobody knows it any better than they do. The exchange doesn't know just what it is in for but is keeping its fingers crossed and hunting for four-leaf clovers.

Rebels

The NRA system of sitting back and waiting for public opinion to teach Henry Ford a lesson just hasn't panned out. Ford's business hasn't suffered so you could notice it and the fact that he has got away with it has tremendously heartened New York rebels who crave to buck Washington.

These rebels are doing their best to stir up resistance in industrial quarters even among those who have already signed codes. They are spreading propaganda freely that profits will be impossible to any corporation which lives up to code requirements. They imply that the whole NRA idea is a subterfuge to conceal socialistic designs. They are out openly to make a big fuss.

Also they are busy digging up statistical ammunition to prove their points. A certain food chain finds its costs have gone 'way up with no increase in revenue. Its earnings will be cut in half. They completely overlook the lag that necessarily exists between the creation of new purchasing power and its translation into income from sales.

Some of the corporations which were first in line as code signers are beginning to feel the effects of this barrage and wondering whether the joke is on them. Washington cannot afford to ignore the growth of this sentiment.

Lindbergh

Insiders in aviation circles say that Col. Lindbergh is busy mapping out trans-Atlantic routes and making international arrangements with British and European air companies for a regular summer air service between us and them via Greenland, Iceland, and the Faroe islands. This route would end in the Shetland Islands and extend to Copenhagen. Croydon would link up the Shetland islands in a regular service from London. The winter service has not yet been fully determined but will, according to Lindbergh, have to pass through the Azores and Bermuda.

In the meantime Pan-American Airways are already constructing two big special hydroplanes under Lindbergh's directions for trans-Atlantic travel. They will have a speed of about 125 miles an hour, carry 41 passengers and a ton in freight and will have a cruising radius of some 4,000 miles.

Unity

Local insiders paid more attention to that part of the President's American Legion speech which dealt with national unity than anything else. New York has been getting reports for some time about the growth of sectional feeling that threatens to disrupt the administration's efforts to solve its problems on a national scale. The fact that the President is aware of this situation is seen here as important. "He may have trouble in keeping farm states in step with industrial states or mining states, or in keeping cotton country in step with wheat country, but if he realizes he is going to have trouble half the battle is won."

Utilities

The utilities are quite proud of their default record. Only 20.8 per cent of utility maturities due in the first half of 1933 were defaulted as against 25 per cent for rails and 35 per cent for industrials. They point out that they had no RFC to lean on.

But wise utility men see extensive grief ahead unless the securities act is modified. They know well how impossible new issues are if responsibility for the old must be assumed.

Sidelights

Legion insiders say that Commander Louis Johnson is now a candidate for senator or what have you. He did a swell job for the administration...All large German cities have been ordered to buy police airplanes. That's one way of ducking treaty provisions.—Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The sufferer may be entirely free from pain for some time and then suddenly be stricken with an extremely severe and persistent headache. As a rule, the victim can accurately foretell the time of an attack. Often, too, such an attack may follow some severe emotional or physical strain.

This painful ailment may occur in children as well as in adults. Young victims of this disorder are restless, irritable, sensitive and nervous. But they may be given more hope for a complete cure, provided proper and prompt measures of treatment are taken.

A child who suffers from migraine should be given every opportunity to play outdoors in the fresh air and sunlight. He should be encouraged to relax and rest as much as possible. The diet should be simple, wholesome and digestible. Omit from the diet peppers, spices and an excess of salt.

Adults who suffer from this affliction are advised to resort to a meat-free diet. All fried and greasy foods should be avoided. Drink plenty of water and obtain at least eight hours of sleep. A periodic visit to the doctor for a complete physical examination is advisable. The possibility of eye strain must not be forgotten.

SELLING OUT LOVE

Money isn't the only thing for which love is sold. It's going so cheap, these days, that Jack (the Beanstalk Boy) who traded a perfectly good cow for a handful of pretty beans, seems almost like a financial genius beside the average human being. At least he got a thrilling adventure in exchange.

The things we do to kill love, the mess we make of it, the cheap trumpery for which we barter it must make the angels weep! And the devil laugh! Fate hands us her priceless gift—and we toss it around as though it were a tinsel ball off a Christmas tree.

Some of us make a game of love—just an amusing pastime for our lighter moments. All our serious thoughts are concentrated on money-making or social climbing or keeping our hips and weight down. Something "important," you know, and "worth while."

Others commercialize love and think they've made a good bargain when they trade it in for an ermine coat and a few square-cut diamonds. Or for a trip to Europe in a limousine.

Some women strangle love to death with jealousy, or choke the life out of it with demands, actions, tears or kisses. And some men freeze love to death with cynicism or indifference, crush it with petty selfishness, or ... into a coma from neglect.

We're a bright lot of boys and girls—we humans! We'll sell anything—love, health, happiness—and sell it cheap. And yet the only things worth while in life are the things that Fate hands us on a silver platter, and which we cheerfully trade for "a handful of pretty beans"!—Copyright, 1933, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

2 KILLED, 14 HURT IN SUB EXPLOSION

CAMPBELTOWN HARBOR, Scotland, Oct. 9—An investigation proceeded today into an explosion and fire on the submarine L-26 which caused two deaths and serious injuries to 14.

This was the worst British naval accident since January, 1932, when the submarine M-2 sank off Portland with seven officers and 53 men. The cause of that disaster continues a mystery.

The L-26, a sister ship of the L-24 which was rammed off Portland, in 1924, by a warship with the loss of 43 lives, was about to go to the autumn maneuvers after being grounded five hours on the docks at Kintyre peninsula.

Under its own power and apparently in good shape, the L-26 was refloated, and proceeded here. The blast was due, officials believed, to water reaching the batteries, which were being recharged, through a hole in the hull.

Pennsylvania Miners Start Back To Work

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 9 — Thousands of western Pennsylvania coal miners began a "back to work" movement today and at noon the United Mine Workers of America estimated half of the 75,000 strikers had returned to the pits.

Confusion in the coal fields followed President Roosevelt's plea that the miners end their strike pending adjustment of differences with the operators but as the day wore on reports of resumptions filtered in from several counties in the coal belt.

Roosevelt Waits for Developments

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—President Roosevelt watched today for striking miners and "captive" mine owners to demonstrate by action their response to his appeal that "work be continued and resumed."

The Chief Executive has assurances from spokesmen for steel—owners of the non-commercial soft coal fields—that they would enter negotiations with representatives of their workers.

The striking miners had assurances from Mr. Roosevelt that failing an agreement through collective bargaining, "the President will pass on the question involved and will, in making decisions, use the principle that captive mines must operate under conditions of work substantially the same as those which obtain in the commercial mines which represent 90 per cent of coal production."

intersection and a "stop" sign warns traffic on route 95.

Mrs. Mayle, 38, and Mr. Honesty, 42, were removed to Zanesville this morning shortly after the body of Mr. Mayle was taken to the Mantold funeral home there. Neither Mrs. Mayle nor Mr. Honesty was seriously hurt.

Edwin Zureich, 16, and Eugene Frederick, 17, both of Norwalk, passengers in the car driven by Mr. Ruffing, were badly cut and bruised, but otherwise were not injured. Frederick left the hospital yesterday and Zureich was expected to be able to leave today.

The Ruffing car was one of several hearing St. Paul school football players from Columbus.

Both cars were practically demolished. The Honesty car was taken to the McDaniel Motor Co. garage and the car driven by Mr. Ruffing was towed to the Haberman Chevrolet garage.

Victim Visited Here

Mr. Ruffing's family was with him when he died. His father, Jerome Ruffing, is a first cousin of J. F. Ruffing of North Prospect street. Last summer Mr. Ruffing and several of the family visited here.

Besides his parents he leaves a brother Clarence of Buffalo, N. Y., and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Cramer and Miss Mildred Ruffing of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Ruffing was employed at the Gallup-Ruffing Roofing Co. in Norwalk. He was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and the Booster club of Norwalk.

The body was taken to Norwalk this morning for funeral services and burial.

Mr. Mayle is survived by his widow, two brothers and three sisters. He was born July 14, 1891 in Chester Hill, O., to Henry and Martha E. Myers Mayle. He was married 20 years ago to Helen Brown.

The L. A. Axe ambulance, enroute to the scene of the accident, collided with a car driven by Mrs. P. W. Jacoby of 177 Jefferson street at Mt. Vernon avenue and Elm street.

The ambulance was damaged but continued to the accident. The Jacoby car also was damaged, although the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Jacoby, Mrs. Frank McRill of 176 South Main street and Mrs. Elizabeth Dix of West Church street were uninjured, according to a police report.

The police report stated that as the ambulance, driven by S. R. McIntire, drew alongside the Jacoby car, Mrs. Jacoby started to turn left from Mt. Vernon avenue on to Elm street. Both were driving east.

Toledo Judge in Accident Near Here

Judge Robert G. Gosline of the Toledo common pleas court, his daughter Martha and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rachel Casler of Delta, were injured in an automobile accident caused by wet pavement, yesterday at 6 p. m. at Brush Ridge, north of Marion.

Mrs. Casler was the most seriously injured. She suffered scalp lacerations, and cuts about the face. Judge Gosline suffered a broken bone in his left hand. Miss Gosline escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The party was returning to Toledo from Columbus where they had taken Mrs. Gosline yesterday morning. A fine rain made driving difficult and as Judge Gosline approached the top of a slight rise in the road, he turned the wheels to the right to avoid a collision with a car driving south. The Gosline car slid on the wet pavement and skidded to the left, the two cars sideswiping.

No one in the other car was injured, and the names of its occupants could not be learned. They [illegible]

TWO STEEL LEADERS DIE IN CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9—Two men who played an important part in the saga of steel in northern Ohio, Stewart Henry Chisholm, 86, and Hugh Bryson Wick, 64, died yesterday.

Chisholm, who continued his father's pioneering work in the development of Cleveland as a steel center, had been in ill health for more than a year.

Wick, a member of the family of industrialists socially prominent in Cleveland and Youngstown, died of pneumonia which developed last Wednesday from a severe cold he contracted a week ago. He was a founder and former president and chairman of the Steel & Tubes, Inc.

Wick was born in Youngstown, the son of Henry Wick, who was connected with Youngstown steel furns until 1902, when the two established the Elyria Iron & Steel Co.

After his father's death Wick became president of the firm, holding that position until 1927, when he became chairman of the board. He resigned in 1928, when the company consolidated with the Republic Iron & Steel Co. of Youngstown.

Chisholm, with John W. Gates, in 1898 organized the first unit of the American Steel & Wire Co., and established several other concerns which played a prominent part in the city's early industrial progress.

RAIL LABOR ASKED TO AID IN HOLIDAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9—Milo Reno of Des Moines, Ia., head of the farm holiday movement, has asked railway labor to cooperate in the holiday program and will be given a hearing by the Railway Executives Association at Washington Oct. 17.

A. F. Whitney, president of the association, said today he had received a large amount of data concerning the objectives of the holiday movement from Reno and asking the cooperation of railway labor. He said the data is largely a reiteration of Reno's former assertions that the farmer has not benefitted from the NRA or the "new deal" and that the farm relief bill is not functioning.

The board took the appeals under advisement.

GERMANY GETS PART IN NEW ARMS TALK

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Oct. 9.—As a result of American initiative, an era of five-power disarmament conversations with Germany included on a basis of equality, began today.

Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour of France and Count Rudolf Nadolny of Germany were scheduled to confer before nightfall, American Ambassador Norman H. Davis, having been successful in bringing the two together in an attempt to iron out their differences.

Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, president of the disarmament conference, was expected to insist upon the wisdom of general conversations in his address before the steering committee, which began its discussions today, and also to insist that the conference reopen on Oct. 16, as scheduled.

Indications were that one rock on which the conversations of the conference may be wrecked is the question to what extent Germany's neighbors will record in a treaty their intention to scrap heavy armaments.

A German delegate, clarifying Berlin's attitude in the matter, said that his government wants the right to possess from the start types of defensive armaments which any treaty would not prohibit to signatories as a whole.

DAVIS MAY TESTIFY IN LOTTERY TRIAL

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 The fourth and probably final week of the lottery trial by a federal jury of United States Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania opened today with the possibility that the former cabinet officer might take the witness stand.

He is accused with a co-defendant Theodore G. Miller, of causing the transportation of lottery tickets in interstate commerce. His defense began last week.

The charges involve the Loyal Order of Moose of which Davis is life time director general and a fund raising enterprise of that order known as the 1931 Mooseheart charity fair.

HUMPHREY IGNORES PRESIDENT'S ORDER

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 William E. Humphrey, removed by President Roosevelt Saturday as federal trade commissioner sat at his office desk today in defiance of the order.

He also attended the regular meeting of the commission.

Neither he nor the commissioners would say what action was planned. Humphrey indicated, however, that he has not the slightest intention of giving up his office unless forced to do so by the courts.

While the daily calendar came to Humphrey's desk no other official business apparently was being sent to him.

"I expect to take any steps necessary to protect any legal right I may have," Humphrey said. "I don't think it is my next step, but the President's."

James M. Landis, Harvard professor, was to take over his commissionership today and the commission waited word of the coming of George C. Matthews Wisconsin securities expert, whom the President selected to succeed Humphrey.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY LEADING RECOVERY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 The spindle and the loom continue to lead the march of recovery. Despite head-shakings and cluckings, the spinning and weaving of fabrics broke all records during the early summer.

While production at that time ran far in excess of consumption, and went largely toward building up stocks in advance of higher costs under code operations, there has been a revival of demand for textile goods during recent weeks, and trade analysts say active production for at least the remainder of the year seems assured.

That the long depressed textile industry, which failed to get even a nibble of the boom time profits of 1928 and 1929, should now be setting the pace is one of the phenomena of recovery.

The cotton division was the first major industry to start operating under an NRA code, and despite the skepticism which was manifest in several quarters at the start, many authorities now agree that code operation bids fair to cure the ills from which this industry had long suffered.

Farm Bureau Offers Wide Range of Service

Can Supply All Average Needs of Farm Dwellers

Non-Profit Concern Serving Ever-Increasing Number of Rural Residents in District Near Here.

The Marion Farm Bureau service unit, located at 175 Park boulevard, is serving an ever-increasing number of farmers and Marion county residents with its complete line of Farm Bureau products. Established several years ago as one of 27 such units in Ohio, it has increased its services and volume of business almost every year since it started. Underlying the idea of the Marion county service store is the cooperative development which has become common among farmers in all sections of the country. There are many things, these farmers believe, which they can do for themselves better than anyone else can do for them. The Marion county store is owned by farmers and operated for their benefit on a non-profit basis.

An example of the increased demands for services of the Marion Farm Bureau is shown in the recent addition to the buildings and equipment of the store, which provide complete facilities for the handling of Marion county grain crops. The Marion county branch is one of the most complete operated by the Farm Bureau in this state. In its regular stocks are carried a complete line of fertilizer, feed, seed, lubricating oil, fence, twine and numerous smaller items.

Good Feed Service

The Marion [illegible] Farm Bureau has always been a feature of its feed service. Several years ago when feed grains were short in Ohio, the Farm Bureau called together feeding specialists of Ohio and other states and worked out formulas for the feeding of dairy cattle, poultry and other livestock. These formulas were the guide to the making of all Farm Bureau feeds and the Farm Bureau was the first organization to distribute open formula mixed feeds in the state of Ohio. Two years ago, when farmers of this vicinity had large stocks of grain which would not bring satisfactory prices on the market, a milling and mixing machine was installed by the Farm Bureau. This allows farmers to bring in their own grain, mix it with the high-grade supplement ingredients carried in the stocks of the Farm Bureau, and have the advantages of the Farm Bureau's general formula service in the preparation of their feed. This service is available to any farmer in this vicinity.

While specializing in its open formula dairy and poultry feeds, a large number of flock owners in this vicinity have found Manamar, which is contained in Farm Bureau Mermash feeds, an outstanding result-getter. Farm Bureau Bermash feeds contain products from the sea which have a number of ingredients not commonly found in feed produced from inland grain and supplements only. In addition to its mixed feed line and mixing equipment, the Marion Farm Bureau has a complete stock of standard feeds used in this vicinity, such as bran, middlings, tankage and meat scraps, cottonseed and linseed oil meal.

For several years, more Farm Bureau fertilizers have been used in Ohio than of any other single brand. Farm Bureau fertilizers are made at Lockland, Ohio, in a plant which manufacturers a large tonnage of fertilizer each year which is distributed by the Farm Bureau of Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. This plant has the most up-to-date mechanical equipment for fertilizer manufacture that it is possible to secure. The Farm Bureau particularly specializes in the availability of the nitrogen in its various analyses and uses only these mixtures which are recommended by University soil and crop experts.

Also Supply Oils

Several years ago the Farm Bureau, after investigation, saw the need of a line of lubricating oils and greases made to fit the particular uses of farmers and farm car and truck owners. Starting in a small way, the Farm Bureaus of Ohio, Indiana and Michigan have built up a lubricating oil business until they now own a complete blending plant in Indianapolis. At this blending plant, the oils are constantly tested and are made to conform to strict specifications which make them of outstanding value to the users of these products. While bulk oils are constantly stocked at the Marion Farm Bureau store, the organization has specialized in the last year in the handy two-gallon container in which oils of various grades can be secured.

No other investment which the farmer makes is more important than the money he puts into seeds. Realizing this, the Farm Bureau has been working for a number of years to develop a source of seeds of known origin and adaptability to Ohio conditions. The Marion Farm Bureau store has its own seed cleaning equipment and has several reliable sources of supply or seeds which must be brought in to the county each year. Inoculator for legume crops is also distributed through the Farm Bureau.

For several years the Farm Bureau has been purchasing and distributing coal to the retail trade in the Marion community. Through the Ohio Farm Bureau organization in Columbus, the Marion Farm Bureau is in constant touch with sources of coal supply in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. A complete line of coal is available at all times and for all purposes.

Fencing Handled

Fence and fencing accessories have been recently added to the Farm Bureau stock. Fencing material carried by the Farm Bureau is made by one of the large steel companies and has won favor with farmers in all parts of the state who have already tried out Farm Bureau fence service.

Under the direction of manager R. L. Leeper, a staff has been built up in the Marion County Farm Bureau store which has gained the confidence of farmers and others who use the services and products which they handle. Every effort is made to give prompt service and fair, courteous treatment to every customer or visitor to the Farm Bureau plant. Mr. Leeper and his associates will be glad to have anyone in this vicinity visit their store at any time and inspect the equipment and operations which have been built to serve the community in and around Marion.

Goat Milk Aids Marion Persons Regain Health

Specific Cases Cited To Prove Valuable Qualities of Big Island Dairy Product.

The Big Island Goat Dairy has been delivering goat milk to Marion homes for slightly more than 16 months. Miss Hazel Ault, a graduate nurse and the owner and operator of the farm, tells of her experiences in getting established. Her first order for a daily delivery seven days a week, was for one pint and Miss Ault says she drove to Marion several times in the first month when that one pint was her only sale for the day.

She estimates that over 100 quarts were given away in business places in her first three months of operation in addition to much talk regarding the merits of her product.

Miss Ault's most recent visitors at her dairy was a family which had formerly owned a goat. The mother announced, "I'll say goat milk is wonderful! Look at that girl! Two years ago she weighed only 87 pounds and we had to take her out of school because her asthma was so bad. We bought a goat, she drank the milk for a year and has had one slight attack of asthma in the last two years. Just look at her now!" A fine looking girl weighing about 120 pounds and the picture of health.

Another man, paying for a pint daily for a foster son, approached Miss Ault's delivery car several weeks ago and said, "Say, do you know that on the day before you started delivering here March 6, 1933, I had that boy to the doctor for a complete physical examination only to be told that he could do nothing for him and that the boy would never be able to do a lick of work! Look at him now, mixing cement, sodding the lawn, hanging awnings and ending up by playing tennis!" "Well, Mr. X, just what was wrong with him?" and the answer came back, "He had a bad heart, bad stomach, kidneys, liver—in fact there seemed to be a little of everything wrong."

Miss Ault plans an expansion into Magnetic Springs and will begin building operations this week to house more goats. A milking room will be partitioned off and will be an improvement over the present method of removing the goats, one by one, to another building for the milking operation.

AUGUST PRODUCTION OF CHEVROLET GAINS

With an increase in production of cars and trucks in August which more than trebled August 1932, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, announced that it had passed the half millionth car in the year's output.

August production of 73,433 units was 204 per cent over the same month a year ago. It brought production for eight months to 511,433 units, as compared with 394,000 for the full 12 months of 1932.

When compared with 1930 and 1931, August, 1933, shows large increases, approximately 22,000 over the former and nearly 20,000 over the latter. The sizeable increases over those two years and the exceptionally large margin over August of last year show clearly and emphatically how business has turned for the better, Mr. Knudsen said.

The month just passed ranks fifth in point of production in August history. It was exceeded only by August of 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929. The Haberman Chevrolet Co. of West Center street, is keeping pace with the factory production.

SOOT CAUSES LOSS OF HEAT

Self Cleaning Radiator Assures Greatest Possible Heating Efficiency.

Layers of soot one-eighth of an inch thick on the heating surface of a warm air furnace reduce the efficiency of that surface approximately 25 per cent. In the ordinary type of warm air furnace, gases travel principally in a horizontal direction, entering at one port and leaving at another. In the travel of smoke and gases through such a radiator, particles of soot and fine ash are carried up and deposited against the inside walls of this radiator. At the end of a season during which the heater has been in service, a large amount of soot has collected in the ordinary radiator and is removable only by laborious, manual cleaning.

Contrasted to the ordinary type, the International Self Cleaning Radiator has several openings directly over the fire which admit the flames and heated gases. The flames, swirling up through these openings, continue the mixing and burning started in the combustion chamber and gas dome. An intense heat is thus generated, making the entire area of the radiator prime heating surface. Soot cannot lodge in the radiator under these conditions. Any unburned particles of fine ash must drop back into the fire or be carried to the smoke flue.

The heating surfaces of the Self Cleaning Carton Warm Air Furnace are always clean. Soot cannot decrease their heating effectiveness because it cannot collect anywhere on the castings. Thus the Self Cleaning Carton is fully efficient all of the time.

These furnaces may be purchased through any furnace dealer in Marion or vicinity. A store is maintained by The Marion Supply Company at 184 North Main Street and any one who is interested is invited to see this furnace and learn more about its many excellent features.

Scientists at the University of Chicago have discovered that a man's head absorbs about five per cent of the cosmic rays that strike it, the remainder passing through.

PLAY WITH MARION

Pictured above are a pair of ball players who promise to provide all kinds of trouble for the Columbus Red Birds when the Capital City club invades Lincoln park Tuesday to play the Marion All-Stars. At the top is Lee Mangum, Boston Braves' twirler, who will start on the mound for Marion. Below is Joe Hauser, the home run king of the Minneapolis Millers who will play first base for Marion. Between them, they should be able to make it pretty much of a ball game.

GALION BEATEN BY MANSFIELD TYGERS

Murphymen Chalk Up 20-0 Triumph in N. C. O. League Opener.

The Mansfield Tygers started off on the path which is expected to lead them to another North Central Ohio league championship Saturday when they turned back the Galion Orangemen, 20-0 on the Galion field. The Orangemen put up more resistance than expected but were never a threat to the Mansfield supremacy. Penalties hindered Mansfield's efforts to add more points, the Tygers being assessed a total of 75 yards.

Jenkins circled the end for 14 yards and the first Mansfield touchdown. Zedicker romped 35 yards through tackle for the second and a pass, Olin to Jenkins brought the final score.

Grubaugh and Ellis starred for Galion.

VETERAN BACKS LEAD TOUCHDOWN PARADE OF SHELBY WHIPPETS

Presidents Avert Shutout as Last Half Rally Brings Six Points.

Harding High school's 1933 debut into North Central Ohio grid league competition was rather rudely messed up Saturday afternoon on the greensward of the W. W. Skiles stadium at Shelby, when the Shelby Whippets romped off with a 33-6 decision over the red and black clad Presidents. The defeat, not altogether unexpected but more decisive than had been anticipated, was the first for the Cheadle-coached combination in three starts.

It might be recorded that Harding ran into a Shelby team considerably tougher than anyone had expected to meet, one with more experience and power than any team which Shelby had been able to put on the field in recent years. The Whippets do not figure to take the league championship away from Mansfield, but they are tough enough to provide a flock of headaches for most any ball club which happens to be on their schedule.

Add to the above situation the fact that two of Harding's best ball carriers, Carl Danner and Gerald Smart, were unable to get into action and that several others were on the field only because there were no suitable replacements, and a reasonably fair explanation is provided for the one-sided beating.

The Better Team

Several members of the Harding team did not turn in any brilliant exhibitions of how football should be played, but it is quite probable that had every member of the cast performed to the limit of their present ability that Harding would still have been handed the short end of the score. Possibly not by such a one-sided margin but by a fairly decisive figure.

A pair of bad breaks, both of their own making, got the Presidents off to a bad start and put them in a hole from which they never escaped. Castner lugged the opening kickoff back to the Harding 30-yard stripe but a pair of plays netted only two yards. Harding was detected holding on the second and set back 15 yards. Whitcum dropped back to kick and Mason sailed the pass from center far over his head and almost to the Harding goal. Whitcum recovered and booted a nice kick out of bounds on the Harding 40.

Shelby immediately launched an attack which, after a couple of short interruptions, ended up with Fry crashing over the line for six points. Walker spoiled the attempted try-for-point by place kick and the period ended 6-0.

The second period was largely a repetition of the first, Fry and LaBarge leading at Shelby assault ripped off long gains through the tackles and around the ends. The Whippets counted twice again before the half, Wilcox carrying the first one across after taking a toss from Fry and Fisher banging through the line for the second. LaBarge added the point on the third touchdown and Shelby led 19-00 at the half.

Harding Threatens

Harding made some valiant attempts in the second half to turn the game from a rout into something of a contest. The rally threatened several times to produce the desired results but almost every time the Shelby goal line loomed into view, the Presidents' attack wilted and they lost the ball. Fumbles were to blame for halting the attack twice when Marion was deep in enemy territory, Castner losing the oval once and Whitcum another time. The Whitcum-Frasier forward and lateral pass combination clicked long enough during the period to take the ball to the Shelby four-yard line, from where Whitcum bored through for Harding's only points early in the final frame. Unfortunately, Shelby added another touchdown in the third frame and was too far out in front to leave any hopes for a Harding victory.

Both teams ran in numerous substitutes in the final quarter when the size of the final score was the only thing left in doubt. Shelby added seven more points to its total but the best Harding could do was to make several threats which fell just short of touchdowns.

The Shelby reserves tripped the Harding second 14-0 in the preliminary, scoring twice in the first period.

LEADS HAWKEYES

DICK CRAYNE

When Dick Crayne led the Iowa Hawkeyes to a victory over Northwestern a week ago, there were plenty who thought his sterling performance might have been a flash in the pan. Crayne proved the doubters were "all wet" last Saturday when he went on another spree as Ossie Solem's charges rolled up a 32-0 triumph over Bradley Tech. Crayne led the attack again ripping off consistent gains for the Hawkeyes.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX TAKE CITY SERIES

Cubs Beaten Four Times in Row. Losing Final Start 5-1.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 — The Chicago White Sox ruled supreme in city baseball circles today after having administered four straight defeats to their old enemies, the Cubs of the National league.

It was the thirteenth series won by the southsiders in 20 meetings.

The Cubs, undoubtedly dispirited by the death of their president, William Veeck, lost the final game 5 to 1 yesterday. Guy Bush started for the Cubs, but he was replaced by Pat Malone after two runs had been scored in the first. Heving pitched for the winners and allowed seven hits.

The series drew 56,416 fans, paying $60,446.00. Each club received $10,274.82. The commissioner got $9,046.89. Winning players received $637.79, and losing players $456.70.

CRESTLINE SQUEEZES OUT CLOSE VICTORY

Merchants Top Mansfield, 2-0, Scoring on Last Period Safety.

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Oct. 9—A blocked punt in the final quarter which resulted in a safety gave the Crestline Merchants a 2-0 victory over the Mansfield Coca Colas Sunday afternoon at Crestline. It was the fourth straight victory for the Merchants. The game was played in a drizzling rain and the slippery ball resulted in numerous fumbles and blocked punts.

Crestline rolled up a big advantage in yardage, ripping off long gains all through the game. Mansfield threatened but once to cross the Crestline goal. Crestline piled up eight first downs to none for the Coca Colas and completed four out of 10 forward passes. Fisher, Burnison and Wilcox were the big ground gainers for Crestline.

M'NAUGHT, KALLIO IN MAT SCRAP TONIGHT

Finn To Risk Title Against Canadian in Bout at Shovel Gym.

The third wrestling match of recent months in which a title has been at stake will be put on tonight in the Steam Shovel gym arena. Gus Kallio, middleweight champion, will pit his crown against the tough Canadian mat gladiator, Scotty McNaught. They will tie up over the two-hour time limit route with two falls to win.

Kallio has been successful in the defense of his title on both previous occasions here. McNaught, however, has been mowing down opponents right and left in the last few weeks and is expected to afford plenty of opposition to keep the champion busy for most of the allotted two hours.

A pair of newcomers will display their wares to the cash customers in the semi-finals. Hi Sharmon of Salt Lake City and Ivan Kosneck, a Russian, will meet over the 45-minute route with two falls to decide the winner. Both come here with good reputations.

OHIO ELEVENS FACE HEAVY GRID SLATE AGAIN THIS WEEK

Thirty-Four Buckeye Teams To See Action Friday and Saturday.

By The Associated Press

"Forget last week and start thinking of next Saturday" was the admonition of football coaches today as they set about some to rebuild their teams, others to make radical changes and still others to let well enough alone in preparation for the coming week end which will see 34 Ohio squads in action.

Vanderbilt at Ohio State, Carnegie Tech at Xavier, Marshall at Miami and Ohio Wesleyan at Syracuse are the tid bits on the Ohio gridiron menu, with a score of other good games as a demitasse.

Ohio Vs. Vanderbilt

Ohio State, fresh from its crushing 75 to 0 defeat of Virginia, will find much sterner opposition in Dan McGugin's Vanderbilt Commodores.

The Marshall-Miami battle will create a great deal of interest as the winner will emerge on top of the Buckeye Athletic association heap. Marshall assumed this lead Saturday by defeating Wittenberg, 19 to 0, while Miami was stopping a non-conference foe, Hanover, 14 to 0.

Two Ohio conference contests will open the schedule Friday night. Heidelberg will go to Dayton and Muskingum plays at Mount Union. The Student Princes defeated Ohio Northern Saturday, 19 to 0, and the Mounts dropped a 19 to 6 decision to Western Reserve.

Marietta at Otterbein, Ohio Northern at Hiram, Bowling Green at Baldwin Wallace, Capital at Kent, Oberlin at Wooster and Ashland at Kenyon.

Ohio university after its remarkable showing against Purdue Saturday, in which it lost by a 13 to 6 score, will have a breather this week in Franklin college. Cincinnati will continue its non-league schedule against Kentucky and Wittenberg will take on an ancient foe in Denison.

Of the 18 games Saturday involving Ohio teams, two were ties and all except four were shutouts. Seven of the winning teams scored 19 points, a seemingly popular figure.

Although scoreless last week, Jordan of Xavier continued on top of the scoring heap in the state with five touchdowns and one conversion for a total of 31 points.

Baseball Bows Out as Giants Capture Crown

Terry's Master Minding Draws Praise But Cronin Proves Managerial Flop in Series.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—The clamor and thrills of the Giants' World series triumph trailed off today into history as baseball bowed its way out for another season.

But there was material enough for the hot stove league sessions through the long winter nights to challenge any intervening excitement in the feats of the tall thin southpaw from Oklahoma, Carl Hubbell, the home run hitting of little Melvin Ott, the boy wonder of Louisiana; the flair and color of New England's blonde John Ryan, and the master minding of Memphis Bill Terry.

Rarely have newly crowned champion of baseball's realm presented such a varied cast of heroes and near heroes as the amazing group that came from nowhere through the National league season and through sheer fight, spirit, and mastery in the pinches then a world series triumph over the highly favored Washington Senators in five games.

Confident of Future

"Furthermore," warned Terry today as the Giants prepared to disband for the year, sorry it was all over and there were no more worlds to conquer, "this is a team that should be good for five more years. Pitchers like Hubbell, the best in the world right now, Hal Schumacher, Roy Parmelee and Fred Fitzsimmons will be even better next year. Everywhere else on the team are youngsters just getting good."

"You won't make any mistake picking us right now to do this all over again in 1934."

Certainly the feature of the 36-year old Terry who has a 15-year [illegible] taller than himself seems assured for as long as he wants to handle the Giant reins. Believing not only in the strength he acquired in trades that tore the old Giants apart last year after he had succeeded the veteran John McGraw, Terry installed a sort of town meeting form of government in the ball club, let everyone join in the strategic conferences that gather every time there is a sign of trouble brewing and wound up bewildering the American league champions at every turn.

In fact the success of Terry's strategy and the failure of just about everything Joe Cronin tried, left the 26 year old manager of the Senators looking just about his age as a big league pilot from the moment he started left handed Wally Stewart against the Giants in the first game until Mel Ott with two out and the bases empty in the tenth, sent one of Jack Russell's fast balls into the center field stands with Fred Schulte fumbling after it for the home run that won the fifth encounter, 4 to 3.

Ott's Homers Wreck Nats

It was Ott whose home run in the first inning of the opening encounter at the Polo grounds started Stewart down to a 4 to 2 defeat as the Senators were able to reach Hubbell for but five hits and two unearned runs as ten of the American league sluggers fanned.

In the matter of pitching strategy Cronin looked very weak indeed as he wound up with Whitehill, his only winning hurler, sitting on the bench waiting probably to pitch the opening game of the 1934 season because of Cronin's failure to use him before the third game, although the southpaw's appearance may have been delayed by a sore arm. Likewise Monte Weaver, who forced Hubbell to go 11 thrilling innings to win the fourth game 2 to 1 did not arrive until the Senators' cause was all but hopeless.

The experts agreed that with Whitehill in the first game and Weaver in the second, and both able to return for the fourth and fifth games, the outcome of the series might not have been different, but the battle would have been considerably stiffer.

As a whole the series was one of the poorest financially in modern history, the players pool dropping below $300,000 for the first time in 11 years as the crowds in Washington never exceeded 28,000 and the Giants failed to sell out in two games here.

The Giants winning shares were only $4,600 each, the Senators $3,400.

Intersectional Rivalries To Flare Next Saturday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—Intersectional rivalries flare up in earnest this week, batting for recognition in another heavy schedule of football "naturals."

Although the south will send a half dozen teams into the north and midwest for the biggest representation, principal intersectional interest will center on Cornell's invasion of Ann Arbor for a tussle with Michigan and Stanford's journey to Chicago to play Northwestern.

Facing the Wolverines for the first time in 15 years, Cornell hopes at least to hold Michigan on even terms. Gil Dobie's Ithaca machine generated considerable power in pushing over its first two rivals. Michigan, Big Ten champion last year, opened its campaign last week with a 20-6 triumph over Michigan State.

Stanford with three victories already, probably will start as favorites over Northwestern.

Otherwise only Vanderbilt's duel with Ohio State will be able to compete on even terms with such sectional struggles as those between Pitt and Navy, St. Mary's (Calif.) and Southern California, Oregon and Washington; Purdue and Minnesota, Duke and Tennessee and Georgia and North Carolina.

Here are the outstanding features of the week's card by sections:

Navy To Play Pitt

East—Navy's encounter with Pitt, at Pittsburgh; Bucknell-Villanova, Lafayette-New York university, West Virginia-Fordham and Rutgers-Colgate. Six intersectional games are listed with Centre paired against Boston college Thursday, Clemson against George Washington and askell against Temple Friday and Ohio Wesleyan against Syracuse, Virginia against Columbia and Washington & Lee against Yale on Saturday. Other major colleges, including Army, Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth and Brown continue their "warm-up" campaigns.

Mid-west—Cornell-Michigan and Stanford-Northwestern game dominate the program marked by five other intersectional contests. Ohio State plays Vanderbilt; Mississippi encounters Marquette; Carnegie Tech and Kentucky invade Cincinnati for battles with Xavier and the University of Cincinnati respectively. On Friday Detroit will entertain Washington & Jefferson. Notre Dame, lucky to get a scoreless tie with Kansas in its first start last week, plays Indiana, equally lucky to tie Minnesota, 6-6. Minnesota makes its second Big Ten start against Purdue's Boilermakers while Illinois and Wisconsin tangle in another conference feature.

Big Six conference competition opens with Nebraska meeting Iowa State and Kansas State playing Missouri.

Duke vs. Tennessee

South—Duke's attempt to halt Tennessee's highly regarded eleven is the high spot of a program of Southern-Southeastern conference tests, the others pitting Georgia against North Carolina, Maryland against Tulane and Florida against North Carolina State.

Far West—Southern California, after its 33-0 conquest of Washington State, meets St. Mary's Gaels next. Oregon and Washington, Washington State and Montana will be the Pacific coast conference pairings.

Southwest—Arkansas, upset conquerors of Texas Christian, plays Baylor in another conference game with Southern Methodist tackling Rice.

Cards Beat Reds, 3-0.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 — The Cincinnati Reds, new team in the National professional football league, were defeated, 3 to 0, by the Chicago Cardinals in their first appearance before a home crowd. A field goal by Joe Lillard, halfback, from the 15-yard line, accounted for the victory in the second period.

Will Make Debut.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 —Don McCorkindale, South African heavyweight, will make his American debut in a 10-round battle with Patsy Perroni, of Cleveland, in Madison Square garden tonight.

GREEN BAY RETURNS TO FORM, SMASHING PORTSMOUTH, 17 TO 0

Ohioans Lose First Place in Pro League To Chicago Bears.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 With the spark of resentment fanned into flame the Green Bay Packers today were backed in the National professional football league race with a 17 to 0 shutout over the powerful Portsmouth Spartans to their credit.

After being held to two ties and defeated once the Packers chances for the championship were regarded very slim but yesterday's victory changed opinions although the road ahead is still hard.

The Chicago Bears gained undisputed possession of first place yesterday by defeating the Brooklyn club 14 to 0 for their third straight. Boston nosed out New York, 21 to 2, and the Chicago Cardinals won their first game by beating Cincinnati, 3 to 0.

The Packers scored in the opening period after a drive from the Spartans 16 yard line. Hank Bruder carried the ball over and Grove converted. Clark Hinkle added three more points with a boot from the 30 yard line in the third game. Buckets Goldenberg intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and a short time later scored a touchdown. Blood added the extra point on a pass.

The Bears put over a touchdown in the second period when Brumbaugh passed to Bill Carr. Nagurski added the extra point. Manders put over a field goal from the 35 yard line in the third period.

Trailing 7 to 0 as the second period opened, the Redskins opened up and scored 14 points. They added 7 to the Giants 6 in the third and won the game when the New Yorkers failed to add the extra point after a final period touchdown.

A field goal by Lillard in the second period gave the Cardinals their game.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—Apparently responding to some sort of invitation to the waltz, half a hundred birds smashed themselves to death against the bright lights of a nearby pavilion while a dance was in progress.

CINCINNATI — "Bellboys," declares a Cincinnati hotel operator, no longer hop to the sound of a bell, and most of them aren't boys any way. He's offering $25 to any employe who can think up a better name.

MARKET SEES LITTLE ACTION

Some Shares Are Able To Push Forward Fractionally.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 Definite trends were absent in diverse securities markets today and stocks and staples did little more than shift cautiously from one foot to another.

Equity trading started with a semblance of enthusiasm which put most of the alcohols and a number of specialties up 1 to around 2 or more points. The upward flurry died quickly as the metals developed a rather heavy tone and, after the first half hour, the ticker tape was inclined to move lazily. Prices settled down to a rather narrow range. Grains dipped and rallied nervously, but cotton held fairly steady in the face of the official prognostication of a greater yield than had been expected. The dollar was higher against sterling but lower in terms of French gold francs.

Gains of fractions to around a point were recorded by such stocks as Case, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Johns-Manville, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, American Can, Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Santa Fe, New York Central, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania. National Distillers got up about 3 and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Schenley and American Commercial Alcohol advanced a point or more. U. S. Smelting dropped more than 2 and Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, St. Joseph Lead and others of this group sagged around a point.

The government's cotton forecast of 12,885,000 bales, based on a condition figure of 60.7 per cent as of Oct. 1, compared with recent private estimates ranging between 11,900,000 and some 12,400,000. Ordinarily, it was said in brokerage circles, this forecast would have been quite bearish.

CORN SCORES LATE GAINS

Rallies Lead Prices Vigorously Higher from Early Low Levels.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—Rallies late today in which corn took the lead lifted grains vigorously from early low price levels.

Expectance that something important to the grain trade would be announced this afternoon in Washington by the comptroller of the currency had considerable to do with stimulating upturns of values. Sentiment regarding corn especially became less bearing than of late, and belief prevailed that liquidation of corn market had been thorough.

H. H. Kohls Drowned in Accident on Farm Near Galion.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 9—Henry H. Kohls, 65, was drowned Sunday afternoon on his farm three miles northeast of here.

Mr. Kohls, accustomed to viewing the construction of a new bridge on the Mansfield road a short distance from his home, had taken a short cut through the field. His course followed a creek, and he slipped on the wet bank and fell into the water.

The body was found by his son Anthony, who was following his father a short distance away. He had been under the care of a physician since the illness three years ago.

Mr. Kohls was born June 1, 1868.

Survivors are his son, Anthony Kohls and a daughter, Miss Josephine Kohls, both at home.

Mr. Kohls was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church of this city. He had lived in this vicinity nearly 15 years.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Rev. Father A. H. Schreiner will officiate. Interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Two Marion Youths Get DeMolay Legion of Honor

The third ceremony of its kind in the history of Marion Chapter, Order of DeMolay, was held Saturday night in the Masonic temple when Edwin Probst and Robert Solinger received the Legion of Honor degree.

The degree is the highest attainable by DeMolay members.

George M. Clark of Cleveland, a member of the grand council of DeMolay in Kansas City, Mo., was an honor guest and presided over the degree ceremonies.

One hundred fifty members, parents and friends attended. A dance followed the degree work.

Probst is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Probst of 579 Mt. Vernon avenue and Solinger is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Solinger of 359 Monroe street. Both are past master councilors of the Marion chapter, the highest office in the chapter.

Conferring the Legion of Honor degree on Probst and Solinger brought to six the number of Marion youths to receive this honor. In 1927, it was conferred upon James Richards and the late Rhu Cheney and in 1930 Arthur Zachman and Sherman Haldeman received the degree. Only 1,200 members out of a membership of 100,000 in the United States have been so honored.

Aiding Mr. Clark in the ceremony were James Richards, [illegible] McMahan, Sherman Haldeman, Arthur Zachman, George May, Harold Jennings, Francis Soos, Donald Harrold, Frederick Soos, George Scheckley, Edward Wilson and Robert Stanley.

The flower girls were Miss Martha Jane Sweney, Mary Stoner, Martha Jane Brown, Eleanor Flach, Jane Stephenson, Jean Williams and Jean Myers.

A quartet from the Canto club consisting of John Courtney, Forest Hill, Harold Brandt and Howard Orr, aided with the program. Miss Dorothy Briggs was at the piano. Charles Conley, district deputy, and Frank Little, "Dad" of the Marion chapter were in charge of the meeting.

A six o'clock dinner preceding the meeting was given by Mrs. J. P. Probst, mother of Edwin Probst, in honor of the two recipients and Mr. Clark. Guests were Mr. Clark, Probst and Solinger, Charles Conley and Frank Little.
